Solution

Authentic conversations are a reciprocal exchange of truth and attention which creates the added value of connection.

Through our connection we can help each other heal from our traumas and learn that we have a lot more in common than we previously thought.

We want to liberate ourselves from poverty, starting with homeless and undocumented people, then scaling towards a citizen-funded global basic income for all humans.

We want to reconnect ourselves with the reality lived by our fellow earthlings, to heal our common traumas, and to understand why our individual wellbeing is interdependent with the collective wellbeing.

We want to elevate ourselves towards long-term thinking and to build a more antifragile, collaborative, dignified, and open society.
