WHAT ARE THE GEOPOLITICAL, CULTURAL-SOCIAL-ECONOMIC FACTORS THAT MUST BE TAKEN INTO CONSIDERATION? WHAT ARE SOME NUANCES AND COMPLEXITIES THAT MUST BE ADDRESSED?

The challenge is that KYC (Know Your Customer) and AML (Anti Money Laundering) regulations require people to have national identity documents and a stable home. Without these, you're excluded from the mainstream financial system. Our ancestors have unfortunately created a world that arbitrarily separates people according to their place of birth and then makes it really hard for them to roam the planet like every other creature on earth is free to do. You're expected to stay in one place and define yourself by a random event in which you had no choice.

SCOPING OF THE PROBLEM TO SOLVE

Cashlessness

- People around the world are quickly going cashless, but the most vulnerable and marginalized population groups are often excluded from participating in this new economy.
- In developed economies, where the majority is reasonably well served by the traditional system, there's no rush to upgrade all current infrastructure.
- Even if cryptocurrency point-of-sale payment terminals are available today, they probably won't reach massive adoption before at least 5 years.

Dehumanization

- Homeless and undocumented people are mostly a statistic we hear in the news and quickly forget. We walk past them in the street without even seeing them.
- Most social programs today are bureaucratic processes that infantilize people by not giving them any choice in the use of funds nor expecting them to be responsible with their freedom.
- Our world is increasingly polarized. We see those that don't belong to our group as unknown enemies to outcompete instead of potential friends with whom to build.
